The Story of Wine at Noto's Old World Italian Dining

Wine is simply my passion! The first spark of interest in wine came at an early age for me. I remember grandpa's homemade wine tapped from the barrel of his special "cellar" selection, placed on the table for Sunday dinner. The hobby of wine making in my family ended with my father who proudly made his last batch of wine with grandpa in 1956. Although my father and grandpa wouldn't rank amongst the top wine makers past or present, they had a passion about wine that was passed down to me.

I have had the opportunity to travel to Italy many times to gain more wine and cultural knowledge for me to share with others. I have spent time with winemakers all over Italy. I always say wine tastes best when your are drinking it in Italy....the next best thing is to drink it with friends at Noto's!

I have toured these prominent vineyards and wineries and I am happy to represent them on our wine list: Ratti, Sandrone, Pio Cesare, Vietti, G.D. Vajra, Cantina del Pino, Marcarini, San Silvestro, Rocca della Macie, Col d'Orcia, Bertani, Cavit, Falesco, Castello di Bossi, Cecchi, Banfi, Feudo Maccari, and Planeta. I will keep you posted on my next visit.

My Italian heritage will always shine through in our restaurant and this wine list. Perhaps the only down fall is that I don't drink as many wines from around the rest of the world.

Our family purchased the old Bil-Mar restaurant in Grand Haven on Lake Michigan. It is called Noto's at the Bil-Mar. It is a beautiful beach restaurant open for lunch and dinner. This has given me the opportunity to write a wine list that has representation from around the world including a strong selection of Italian wines. Our beach restaurant opened in 2019!! We hope you will come visit us again and again!

I love to discover more about wine. I learn by working with my suppliers who teach me about the newest wines available in Michigan. I learn through my travels to Italy. But most of all, I learn when I talk with our guests who share their experiences in wine and travel.

I am most proud of our wine list at Noto's because we have collected some of the highest rated Italian wines produced, coupled with very small boutique wineries that make some of the most phenomenal wines I've ever tasted.

With over 1,300 Italian wines on our list and representation from all 20 wine producing regions, I'm sure we will find that special one for you.

I am the luckiest person in the world to have the opportunity to take my interest in wine and have it evolve into a passion that I hope to share with anyone who hears the "pop" of a cork releasing from that special vintage wine.

Saluté,

Joann Noto

This wine list is dedicated to the memory of my friend, George Pecor, who shared his knowledge of Italian wine with me and my family.

All Vertical Wines are Limited Availability

Our Vertical Collection of wines have been added to our wine list to give our guests the opportunity to try rare wines for that special occasion. Please keep in mind that when ordering older vintage wines you are not going to taste the typical flavor profiles. Older vintages will not have bright colors and fresh fruit. The older wines will be more amber in color, and separate fruit flavor components will not be separate, rather totally integrated with tannins that are so soft, they are barely perceptible. It is one thing to read about history, yet another to taste it!

Library Collection of Badia a Coltibuono

The Library Collection of Badia a Coltibuono has been added to our wine list to give our guests the opportunity to try a rare wine for that special occasion. Please keep in mind that when ordering older vintage wines you are not going to taste the typical flavor profiles. Older vintages will not have bright colors and fresh fruit. The older wines will be more amber in color, and separate fruit flavor components will not be separate, rather totally integrated with tannins that are so soft, they are barely perceptible. It is one thing to read about history, yet another to taste it!

Take this rare opportunity and enjoy the wines of Badia a Coltibuono.

A M A R O N E

A Unique Wine

Amarone starts with a combination of grape varieties indigenous to the Valpolicella area; Corvina, Rondinella and Molinara. Each of these grapes offers precise and irreplaceable characteristics. Corvina, which is particularly susceptible to “noble rot”, provides aroma and richness to the wine. Rondinella adds color, tannins and bouquet. And lastly, Molinara provides “drinkability” and acidity by rounding out a wine that is well structured and high in alcohol.

The appassimento, or semi-drying, process is the key to the wine’s distinctive nature. After the grapes are harvested they are left to dry on bamboo racks in a well-ventilated loft from November through January. During appassimento, the grapes lose at least 30-40% of their original weight, thereby concentrating the sugars, aromatic substances and tannins.

In late January or early February, once the appassimento phase is complete, they are soft pressed followed by a cold fermentation on the skins. The wine that emerges is very sweet with intense fruit and berry flavors.

The partially fermented Amarone is then racked off for its second fermentation. If left to ferment completely naturally, this second fermentation step could take over a year due to the high alcohol levels in the wine; a good Amarone almost always has an alcohol level higher than 15%. To minimize the risk of oxidation, the winemaker shortens the second fermentation by inoculating the aging wine with a yeast that is tolerant of high alcohol levels. Their goal is to achieve maximum fruitiness with minimal oxidation.

The wine is then barrel aged for a minimum of 2-3 years in large French oak barrels, with a portion of time spent in small, newer barrels. The lengthy aging process ensures that all of the residual sugar is transformed into alcohol. The wine is finally bottled nearly 3 years after harvest. In the bottle, the wine settles to complete its maturity, improving year after year.

In 1990 the DOC quality label was given to Valpolicella wines where Amarone received it’s independence from recioto gaining an identity of it’s own. From that moment Amarone continued to increase it’s popularity, becoming one of the most famous and appreciated wines not only in Italy but all over the world. In 2009 Amarone received the DOCG registration, Italian top quality label for wines.

Port

Bin	Port	2 oz/Glass
801	1997 Dow's Vintage Porto 94 pts. WS #25 Top 100 Wines of 2000 Very dark opaque purple color, with a typically spicy nose and intense underlying aromas of blackberries and black currants. On the palate enormous weight and structure with a marvelous balance of dense black fruit flavors wrapped in a tannic cloak.	$48
804	Dow's 20-Year-Old Tawny Port "20 Years" indicates an average age – this Aged Tawny Port is a blend of older wines, which offer complexity and younger wines, which bring fresh fruit flavors and vibrancy. During their long maturing period in oak casks, Aged Tawnies undergo subtle color changes: the deep red hue which characterizes Port's youth gradually gives way to a paler golden amber color. Dow's is known for its characteristically drier house style. This 20 Year has a full, nutty bouquet, concentrated, citrus, almond and caramel notes on the palate and a lingering finish. Many consider the 20 Year to be the perfect blend of complexity and vibrant fruit when it comes to Aged Tawny.	$25
805	Dow's Fine Ruby Porto The grapes used in the production of Dow's Fine Ruby were a blend of traditional Portuguese varieties from the Douro Valley. Dow's Fine Ruby was aged in seasoned oak casks at our lodges in Vila Nova de Gaia for an average of 3 years, and bottled when ready to drink. Exuberant youthful fruit flavors make it perfect for informal drinking.	$10
